

FAITH- BASED WORK/ETHIC CORRECTIONS

Communities in Texas and Oklahoma have by Resolution joined Corrections Concepts, Inc. (CCI) in offering a medium security community oriented habilitation facility with a faith-based approach to work ethics. The faith-based philosophy opposes anti-social values, emphasizes responsibility and accountability, and promotes reconciliation and champions social support and comfort for those in need. Integrating the PIE certified work program provides practical application for this philosophy with wages for restitution, family support and marketable job skill.

These attributes combined in Habilitation House offer the best opportunity for returning the offender to society as a law-abiding, contributing citizen. CCI believes that after an examination of all the facts, you will come to understand that a faith-based/work-ethic concept has definitive, practical application and can be tested in a pilot project and then replicated in any corrections jurisdiction.
